Headline: Comview Announces the Launch of their Web Based Global Call Accounting Installation Services

Huntington, NY---June 4, 2004---Comview Corporation, a leading telecommunications solution provider, announced today the roll-out of their Web Based Global Call Accounting services, expanding their operations from North America to global locations.

The Web Based Global Call Accounting service is an enhancement to Comview's traditional call accounting services. It enables Comview to manage and price their client's phone calls from anywhere on the globe into that company's local currency and US Dollars, then allowing both the company's local entity as well as their US Headquarters to view. Data is collected on each installed phone system and then transmitted daily via FTP to Comview where it is processed over night. Before the Internet, the Web Based Global Call Accounting service would never have been possible.

This service enables Comview's clients to take a single vendor approach to global installation; there is no need for different vendors in different countries. The single vendor approach creates both pricing and training advantages for clients. It also benefits clients by providing them with an opportunity for network design and optimization access all over the globe. With Voice over IP, companies are also given the ability to accurately charge back the price of phone call to the origin of the call.

Comview has recently teamed up with a premier Fortune 10 company to provide them with a single vendor solution for their worldwide company. With the addition of these global services, Comview has expanded from operating solely in North America to operating in 20 global locations including China, Japan, and Mexico, as well as an upcoming roll-out into European countries.
